

HAWAIIAN TRIFECTA: WEST SIGNS KALANI, GARRETT AND DANIEL

ANNOUNCEMENT

11 FEBRUARY 2005

(Oceanside, California), February 11, 2005— WEST announces 3 talented Hawaiians to represent wetsuits for the growing international team: Kalani Robb, Garrett "G Mac" McNamara and Daniel Jones. The new additions to WEST add an impressive presence to a team roster that includes Layne Harrison, Warren Smith, William "Chino" Sue-A-Quan, Luke Ditella, Sean Slater and Carl Wallin.

Kalani, currently ranked #15 on the WCT, is again one of the north shore's contenders for a world title this year. Rated for over 10 years on the tour, Kalani's experience and discipline will be a tremendous asset to the WEST Team.

Garrett is the Tow-In Surfing World Champion and received first place in the inaugural $70K World Cup of Tow-In Surfing which was held in 60 foot surf, January 2002 at Jaws.

Daniel, one of the youngest members of the famed Jones family was groomed on the punchy lefts and rights of Rocky Point. Currently ranked #14 on the WQS, he has the talent and ability along with support from his family and sponsors to make it to the WCT.

"I'm stoked to be a part of the program at WEST and am psyched on the new suits that they're doing," said Robb.

Jim Watson, West's President confirmed the same sentiment, "It's exciting to have Kalani, Daniel and Garrett join the WEST team. Their combination of different styles and accomplishments together with the respect they have from their peers and the industry are powerful additions to WEST's growing and talented team."

Kalani's other sponsors include Fox clothing, Gravis footwear, Channel Island surfboards and Electric Sunglasses. Garrett's sponsors include No Fear, Sobe, Sea Doo, Plumeria and Free Ride Helmets. Daniel's sponsors are comprised of RVCA and Osiris.
